Abstract of the Disclosure

charging/discharging circuit electrically controls the charge of a battery using supplied current and discharge of it. A micro-controller drives a robot according to instructions from a personal computer, controls the charging/discharging circuit monitoring the battery state, and during the charge, prohibits the operation of a travel mechanism.

10